EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

A Clam-bake and Suicide.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The pilots of Hell Gate and Long Island sound gave a clam-bake at City Island yesterday to congressmen and other distinguished persons residing for the summer on the Sound. Among the company was Signor Vianni, said to be of the suite of Count Corte, the Italian minister. After the clam-bake, while the company enjoyed themselves making speeches and singing songs, Dr. Doremus announced that Signor Vianni would give a recitation in imitation of Histori. Vianni took his position in the center of the group, his voice clear and well controlled and his gesticulations highly dramatic. His limbs seemed to quiver with passion, while the expression of his face was startling. He finished with the exclamation in Italian: "God, who judges all will judge this." He then took a pistol from the pocket of his coat, and placing it to his temple, fired. He fell partly on his face, perfectly motionless, and applause commenced when Doremus rushed forward and exclaimed: "He is killed!" Many at first thought it a part of the entertainment, but in lifting the body the horrible truth became manifest. Vianni lived for half an hour, but never spoke. No cause was ascertained for the terrible act.

The Telegraph Consolidation Broken Off.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—President Orton, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, speaking in connection with the proposition of consolidation with the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company, negotiations for which consolidation, to all appearances, are entirely broken off, says: "The statement that it was the intention of the managers of the Western Union Company to advance rates to the West and elsewhere is wholly incorrect. The rates for the whole country are based on air line distances and gradually increase with the distance until they reach $2 50, which is the maximum rate for a 10-word message to any part of the United States that is reached by our wires. I have no desire to do a very large business between distant points at the same price for messages charged for short distances, but I have great ambition to be able to send messages to any part of the United States at a cost in no case greater than one dollar. The Western Union can reduce rates to the price mentioned sooner if it can have the whole telegraph system of the country under its control than if its plans are obstructed by the interference of competing lines."

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Simonton publishes a letter controverting the claim of some that because the Bank of California has no charter, but is organized under the general incorporation act, that each stockholder is liable for all its debts the same as a member of a mercantile partnership. The Indian Department Investigation.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—A Washington special says the Indian commission appointed to investigate the charges against Secretary Delano, has left St. Louis and telegraphed the department here that the members will arrive here on the 9th of this month for the purpose of completing the investigation. From the evidence reported before this commission it is evident they can by no possible means make any whitewashing report of Mr. Delano. The corruption of the Indian department has been too thoroughly ventilated to admit of that. It is believed that the completion of the work of this commission will force Delano to "step down and out." A strong effort will be made in the next congress to get the entire bureau transferred to the army as the last hope, now that the church has failed to secure to the Indians justice. Affairs have reached such a condition that nothing but a complete change can remedy the thousand and one crying evils that have grown up under the Delano rule.

THE VALUE OF OUR FRUIT PRODUCT.—F. R. Elliot, a writer on agriculture, has been collecting certain data in regard to fruit culture, and gives the total market value of the crop of the entire country at $47,000,000. New York leads all the states in amount with $7,000,000. California's figures are largest in proportion to population, being $6,000,000, this sum probably including the yield from vineyards. The total sum for the New England states is put up at $6,000,000, the individual states not being itemized. In commenting on these figures, the San Francisco Bulletin, which already claims that California is the leading wheat growing state, thinks that it will speedily stand in the front as the greatest producer of fruit, and holds that so far from being overdone there the fruit business is but in its infancy.

The Morning Echo is to be the name of the daily paper about to be started in Olympia.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Returns on the congressional election in the 2d district show the following results: As far as the count is completed in Alameda county, the vote stands Page, 50; Tuttle, 20; Larkin, 50. This includes two precincts in Oakland, but nothing else from the principal towns.

Amador—Page, 152; Tuttle, 57; Larkin, 175.

San Francisco City Election.

City election returns indicate a close fight for mayor between Clayton, on the Chronicle ticket, and Bryant, Democrat, ring candidate. Independents feel hopeful of a good showing in the city offices generally. Ellis, (Ind.), for chief of police, is thought to have beaten Crowley.

The State Ticket.

It may require the official returns to decide the state. It is conceded to Irwin and the democratic state ticket by a large plurality.

Present advices give Irwin, in San Francisco, 4,928; Phelps, 3,577; Bidwell, 2,148, in precincts in which the count is completed.

Latest from the Congressional Districts.

Later indications are that Wigginton leads Houghton for congress in the 4th district. Piper is thought to be ahead in the 1st district, with a close fight between Swift and Rankin. Luttrell is probably elected in the 3d district. Page and Larkin are running close in the 2d.

The Legislative Ticket.

There are no returns of legislative tickets, but the Democrats will undoubtedly have a plurality in both houses, if not a majority.

SHEEP BREEDING.

The following well expressed and correct ideas are from an essay on the above subject by A. M. Garland, read before the Illinois Farmers' Club, and published in the Prairie Farmer.

The breeder of cattle and horses, and swine, has two principal items to study and develop—i. e., a properly developed carcass, and a sound and vigorous constitution. To these the sheep breeder is compelled to add a third, and equally important one, that of fleece. The principal characteristics of a fleece are: First, fineness of fiber; second, trueness or evenness of staple, both as regards length and size; third, soundness, or strength. These prominent, and several lesser, peculiarities are to be studied and developed. Wool is more or less affected by change of climate, of food, of temperature, and of health and bodily surroundings; each and all of these presenting questions for the closest scrutiny, and demanding for their solution the resources of the most competent breeder. Proper attention to this subject cannot be attempted at this time, it alone furnishing sufficient material for a separate paper.

To sum up: Breed well, and feed well. Try no experiment likely to injure the purity of your stock. Remember that your harvest (of wool and lambs) will be in proportion to your deserts by reason of the outlay for feed and shelter. In short, give the sheep a fair chance, and you can safely trust them to bring up their side of the year's balance sheet.

A DOG'S FUNERAL.—The Bardstown (Ky.) Record is credited with the following remarkable story: "A curious incident of the sagacity and imitative habits of dogs came to our knowledge a day or two ago. We warn our readers to be prepared for an almost incredible story, but it can be substantiated by affidavits from several persons of the highest standing, members of the family in which it occurred, some of whom are ladies. Previous to the war, Governor Charles A. Wickliffe was an extensive slave owner, and each one of his negroes owned one or more dogs. In 1860 one of these dogs, a spaniel, manifested symptoms of hydrophobia, and was shot by Judge Wickliffe, the governor's son. Immediately after the shooting all the dogs on the place collected around the body of their dead companion, and after prolonged howling, prepared for a funeral. 'Old Bull,' the largest and fiercest dog, took the body in his mouth and started for the woods south of the governor's residence. The other dogs formed into a regular procession, and in single file followed the body to the woods. They selected a tree just outside of the fence, and at the foot of it dug a grave, in which 'Old Bull' deposited the body, and all the dogs joined in covering with earth the remains. After the grave had been filled all united in more howling, which was kept up some ten or fifteen minutes, when they dispersed."

An amusing story is told of Geo. Childs, of Philadelphia, who takes great pride in showing his establishment to visitors. He had passed through several of the departments, and as he approached the stereotype rooms, remarked that this room was always kept in perfect order, when, on opening the door, there lay a drunken compositor fast asleep on one of the imposing stones, who did not appear to be in perfect order. The disgust of Mr. Childs can be better imagined than described.

It is the Religious Herald that perpetrates the act of cruelty recorded below, and now boasteth of it. The cruel man says "a church recently sent us a series of complimentary resolutions, which we sent into the waste basket; but as no member of said church takes the Herald, it was some time before they learned the fate of their resolutions. Of course their feelings were hurt, but none of them stopped their paper."

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Authoritative Statement that the Bank of California will Resume.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—D. O. Mills authorizes the statement that the capitalists interested in the Bank of California will obtain transfers of stock from holders, relieving holders from liability, and guaranteeing them against loss, and will subscribe funds to place the bank in a condition to pay all demands and put it on a sound basis. Should any surplus arise in settlement it will be credited pro rata to stockholders. The arrangement will go into effect in a few days.

Effect of the Notice of Resumption of the Bank of California.

The recent authoritative assurance of the speedy reopening of the Bank of California, has an excellent effect on business prospects. The executive committee of the board of brokers to-day, appointed a business meeting of the board to-morrow to consult on the resumption of business. Great feeling of confidence prevails.

Decision in the Scurvy Case.

A court of inquiry in the case of the scurvy-smitten ship Bremen rendered a decision, mildly censuring the captain for not making Honolulu, attributing the inception of the disease to an insufficient quantity of fresh provisions, and subsequent mortality to the refusal of the crew to use anti-scorbutics. Eleven witnesses interested on the side of the captain were examined, and only four colored seamen from the hospital out of 22. The captain's certificate was returned. The decision is considered a white-wash.

Pacific Mail Australian Line.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—The Pacific Mail Company's new line to Australia will commence October 9th with the Vasco de Gama, followed by the Colima, monthly service via Honolulu and Auckland, to Sydney, with steam connection thence to Melbourne and Brindisi.

THE LAWS OF SUCCESS.

During last month ex-Gov. Washburn delivered an address before the Maine State Agricultural Society in which among other things he said:

Nothing can be more true than Mr. Disraeli's proposition that a man must understand himself. This is indeed the first law of success. No one can decide what he can do, what he should try to do, what trade, occupation or profession he should adopt, until he has discovered what he can do best. The profession or occupation once adopted, one of the first and most important laws of success is that which demands devotion mainly to one thing. In the ratio that men have to limit the scope of their labors and confine themselves mainly to one thing, the aggregate of production and the common stock of knowledge increase, conquests in the realms of nature and intelligence are made and an advance in civilization is effected. I do not insist that a man shall confine himself to a single pursuit or study, but that he must have one that is controlling—that a dominant idea shall express itself in his work by a single permanent line of activity. There must be something with a man that is first, last and greatest—the central object of his thoughts, the untiring labor of his hands.

The greatest men in philosophy, literature, science, politics, have usually been men of specialties. The profoundest thinkers have not been the wisest readers. The men of few books have been of those who have contributed most to the world's knowledge. The men of one idea are those to whom freedom and civilization owe the largest debt. No revolution in opinions or customs is accomplished save by men who are intensely in earnest. A grand thought is not wrought into a nation's life except by one who is so possessed by it that he can give decent hospitality to no other.

Forty-five years ago a Southern statesman of keen and subtle intellect, of tireless persistence, and of a towering and insatiable ambition, fastened his mind to the dogma of state sovereignty, and, as an indispensable aid to its reception in his section of the country, to the utility and even necessity of chattel slavery. He gave the undivided labor of his life to the dissemination of his opinions on these questions, and wrought with such zeal and skill that in a single generation they became the dominant ideas of the ruling party in the nation, displacing the fundamental theories of the founders of the Republic, and well-nigh converting a government that rested upon Democracy as a corner-stone into a malign and baleful oligarchy based upon slavery. While the revolution was proceeding in its earlier stages under the inspiration and direction of this uncompromising man, the great political organizations of the country were unprepared to make an issue upon the doctrines which he was so vigorously and persistently inculcating. The disciplined hosts which he led rallied as one man, under one banner, and with one battle-cry, while the hosts in opposition, having many leaders and various ensigns and watchwords, were unable by any concentrated and effective rally to stay the march of this giant heresy. * * * So long as Mr. Wright and Mr. Seward, and their friends in the two great parties, allowed themselves to be controlled by their parties, and were content to struggle for the accomplishment of their desires within organizations which refused to make special effort for their promotion a primary duty, and test of fealty, their labors, so far as practical results were concerned, were unavailing. The one idea party within the larger parties controlled both, and would have succeeded in revolutionizing or destroying the government, but for the fact that at about the same time when Mr. Calhoun began to distil his doctrines into the public mind, a Northern fanatic, as he was almost universally regarded, began a counter agitation by which—building wiser than he knew—he was in the end not only to destroy slavery, but to strengthen the Union by placing it on the solid basis of universal liberty. William Lloyd Garrison was as emphatically a man of one idea as Mr. Calhoun, and he was quite as persistent and devoted. Against obloquy, reproach, and persecution, in spite of personal danger, in defiance of mobs and prisons, he struggled for long and cruel years to plant his ideas in the minds of his countrymen. By degrees a party was gathered of those who agreed with him as to the evil and wrong of slavery, and as to the total inefficiency of the measures that had been employed for staying its advances. This party grew into that organization of our own day in which all men who thought alike on this vital issue came to act together, subordinating all other questions to the transcendent one of freedom—a party of one idea—that it might by its earnestness and unity of purpose accomplish the work that had so long been waiting to be done.

A FIRST SIGHT OF NAPOLEON.—I was strangely surprised at his appearance, for nothing could be more remote than this from the conception I had formed. In the midst of a numerous staff I saw a man of stature below the middle height, and extremely slight. His hair was powdered and cut in a peculiar manner, squarely below the ears and then fell behind on his shoulders. He was dressed in a close-fitting coat, buttoned all the way up and ornamented with a very slight embroidery of gold, and he wore a tri-colored plume in his hat. At a first glance his appearance was certainly not handsome. But he had marked features, a quick and searching glance, while his animated and sharp gesture showed ardor of the soul, and his large and thoughtful forehead profound power of reflection. He made me sit down by him and we talked of Italy. His way of speaking was brief and at this time very incorrect.—Memoirs of Count Melito.

H. D. Cassady, a well-known citizen of Union county, was in Baker City on last Wednesday with a two-year-old colt that weighed 1,180 lbs.

THE NEW NATIONAL PARTY.

Following is the platform adopted by the new National Union party organized on the 22d of August, of which mention was made in the dispatches:

Resolved, First, That the further support of extreme Democratic or Republican partisan organizations, whatever may have been their value to the nation in times past, is now dangerous and unpatriotic, inasmuch as it keeps in sight the ghosts of issues long since dead, and tends to prolong an animosity injurious to our internal prosperity and to our credit and influence abroad.

Second. That the time has fully come when the people should resume their sway over the affairs of the nation and organize anew, abjuring that which is useless or dangerous in the experience of the past, and adopting such measures as are adapted to the changed condition of the country.

Third. That the enormous frauds upon the revenue, the forgeries and defaulting in the finances of the treasury, the thefts in every department of the government now being unearthed by investigations, teach the people that dishonesty in public office is a heinous crime, which should be more severely punished by the law than our statutes at present provide.

Fourth. Public officers should be more careful of the nation's money than they are of their own, and all extravagant outlays and "ornamental" offices should be discontinued, while the taxes should be taken from the necessaries of life, and the duties upon luxuries increased.

Fifth. The government should build its own vessels, manufacture its own ordnance, and make its own material therefor.

Sixth. Great combinations, monopolies and corporations, which tend to concentrate capital and oppress the people, should be under the strict supervision of law.

Seventh. Every effort should be made to secure to the farmer and manufacturer the full reward for their labor, and to make the transactions of trade convenient and secure.

Eighth. Every promise of the nation should be a sacred pledge, for the fulfillment of which in the most comprehensive spirit consistent with honesty, every citizen should feel himself personally bound.

Ninth. Sudden inflation of the national currency in the interest of speculators or a sudden contraction for the same ends are alike disastrous, as the experience of the last decade has clearly proven. Hence the only consistent method for the resumption of specie payments is to make the promises of the nation as sacred and the industries of the land so prosperous that a note of the nation will be as unquestionable and valuable as the notes of prosperous and honorable individuals.

Tenth. To the end that cotton and other products of the South may find a ready exchange for the fabrics of the North and the grain of the West find buyers in the East, no encouragement should be given to sectional enmity, but let there be heard on every side words of fraternity, forgiveness, and peace.

THE FUNERAL OF HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN.

[Copenhagen (Aug. 11) telegram to the London News.]

The funeral of Hans Christian Andersen took place at noon to-day. Long before that hour the precincts of the church were densely crowded. The coffin was placed at the front entrance of the choir, covered with wreaths. There were long rows on each side, sent from all parts, a palm branch and wreath from Odense, a laurel wreath from the Press Association of Berlin with the inscription: "Thou art not dead; though thine eyes are closed, In children's hearts thou shalt live forever." Up to the last moment other wreaths were added. A little after 12 o'clock the king, the crown prince, Prince John, and the whole staff arrived in full uniform, taking their places to the right of the choir in front of chairs reserved for the families of Collin and Melchoir, the late poet's dearest friends. The ceremony commenced by a prelude on the organ and a psalm composed by the late poet, sung by the choir. Dean Rothe then stepped in front of the choir and delivered a touching funeral oration. Then Andersen's well-known poem "A Poet's Last Song," was sung. Bishop Engelstoft in a short speech brought a greeting from Andersen's native town. After this, the students of the vocal association struck up a hymn specially composed, and the band played the funeral march composed by Hartmann for Thorvaldsen's funeral. The coffin was borne out of the church by artists and students, who, in large numbers followed with banners. The royal family and several other mourners now left, many taking as mementoes leaves fallen from the wreaths.

THE MAGIC OF SILENCE.—You have often heard "It takes two to make a quarrel." Do you believe it? I'll tell you how one of my little friends managed. Dolly never came to see Marjorie that there was not a quarrel. Marjorie tried to speak gently, but, no matter how hard she tried, Dolly finally made her so angry that she would soon speak sharp words, too. "Oh, what shall I do?" cried poor little Marjorie. "Suppose you try this plain," said her mamma; "the next time Dolly comes in, seat yourself in front of the fire, and take the tongs in your hand. Whenever a sharp word comes from Dolly, gently snap the tongs without speaking a word." Soon afterward in marched Dolly to see her little friend. It was not a quarter of an hour before Dolly's temper was ruffled, and her voice was raised, and as usual she began to find fault and scold. Marjorie fled to the hearth and seized the tongs, snapping them gently. More angry words from Dolly. Snap went the tongs. More still. Snap. "Why don't you speak?" screamed Dolly in a fury. Snap went the tongs. "Speak!" said she. Snap was the only answer. "I'll never, never come again, never!" cried Dolly. Away she went. Did she keep her promise? No, indeed. She came the next day, but seeing Marjorie run for the tongs, she solemnly said if she would only let them alone they would quarrel no more forever and ever.

GORDON DEFIES THE LAW.—Omaha, Aug. 22.—John Gordon, a Black Hills miner, who who was brought here some weeks ago, by order of the court, for a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus, was released on parole yesterday. He appeared at the office of Gen. Ruggles, adjutant-general, department of the Platte, surrendered his parole, and then, by direction of his counsel, attempted to escape. The general immediately ordered his clerks and orderlies who are enlisted men, to arrest him. But Gordon offered the most emphatic resistance, and in this was assisted by his lawyer. He was however arrested and taken to Omaha barracks, where he is confined in the guard-house. Since this occurrence he has had Gen. Ruggles arrested for false imprisonment, also the general and his clerks for assault and battery. The trial of the cases is set down for Wednesday next.

SMALL FARMS.—Small farms make near neighbors; they make good roads; they make plenty of good schools and churches; there is more money made in proportion to the labor; less labor is wanted; everything is kept neat; less wages have to be paid for help; less time is wasted; more is raised to the acre; besides, it is tilled better; there is no watching of hired help; the mind is not kept in a worry, a stew, a fret, all the time. There is not so much fear of a drouth of weather, of a frost, of small prices. There is not so much money to be paid out for agricultural implements. Our wives and children have time to read, to improve their minds. A small horse is soon curried—and the work on a small farm is always pushed forward in season. Give us small farms for comfort; aye, and give us small farms for profit.—Exchange.

OREGON.

A conference camp-meeting will be held at Canby this month.

The storage capacity of the warehouses at Albany is 1,150,000 bushels.

The Alden fruit-dryer at Salem is running night and day on plums alone.

The farmers' warehouse at Salem has a storage capacity of 150,000 bushels.

Our Oakland correspondent, writing under date of the 2d, says Wheeler & Bro. have started a fine store here, and the postoffice and express office have been removed into it. Postmaster Sterling is delighted with his new quarters.

Mr. M. Wilkins, President of the Oregon Agricultural Society, and one of the committee to select fabrics for the Centennial, was in Oregon City a few days ago, and from him the Enterprise learns that the factory at that place will have some of their goods on exhibition.

Rev. S. G. Irvine, of Albany, has recently had the degree of Doctor of Divinity conferred upon him by his Alma Mater, Franklin College. Franklin College is located at New Athens, Ohio, and has turned out many students who in after years wrought distinction for themselves and credit for the college.

Mr. James Casey, writing from Woodburn, Marion county, says: "I do wish to report through the columns of the OREGONIAN, the abundant harvest we have in this portion of the Wallamet valley, and the variety of new grains that we are getting. I wish to state that I sowed the wheat called the Foisy wheat, on 40 acres of spring ground, and in return got 30 bushels to the acre, and on four acres got 180 bushels, that is 45 bushels per acre. Now, I send you this for your columns as it may be of some advantage to the farmers to get hold of such wheat. All over the neighborhood spring wheat did not turn out as this did, and land superior to my land in quality did not average over 18 or 20 bushels per acre. And now I will sell 1,500 bushels to any parties desiring it for seed."

The Oregon City Woolen Mill is built of brick, three stories and a basement high, and cost about $85,000. The capacity of the mill is what is termed a seven set factory, with 30 looms and other machinery in proportion. Last year they used about 450,000 pounds of wool, at an average cost of 25½ cents per pound. They made, finished goods, 213,000 yards, making about double this amount in goods woven, and 13,000 pair of blankets. Their annual expenses for operative labor is about $40,000, and the total expenses for manufacturing $117,381 86, to which should be added $60,000 for other expenses, such as discount, insurance, taxes and other items, making a total expense of $238,000. The amount of the capital stock of the company is $100,000, which is paid up, and they employ a capital stock of about $300,000 to carry on their business.

The Oregon City Enterprise says: At last the efforts of Messrs. J. M. Frazer, A. J. Buck, Dick Hurley and T. J. McCarver, who have devoted much time this summer prospecting for minerals in our foot hills, have been rewarded with success. We are informed that they have discovered a rich cinnabar ledge about 60 miles southeast of this city, the assays of which are 35 per cent quicksilver, from the croppings. The ledge has been followed a distance of over 400 feet, and is about 4 or 5 feet wide. The gentlemen that have discovered this ledge are sanguine that they have struck a rich thing and propose to open the ledge immediately. Messrs. Hurley and McCarver leave next week for the mine, and we shall expect further news on their return. Should this prove as rich as indicated it will be of incalculable value to Clackamas county. They have named the ledge "The Mastodon."

THE TERRITORIES.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars for Washington Territory meets in Olympia on September 15th.

Farmers from Lewis county report a large amount of grain down in the swath. Some of it is injured already, and more will be, if the rain continues. Spring wheat will be apt to escape injury, as it is unusually late this year.

On a pleasant afternoon last week the schooner C. C. Perkins was coming up the slough on the south side of Stacy's farm, on the Skagit flats, W. T., where a man was engaged in running a reaper. The captain spied the motion of rakes on the reaper, and with great excitement shouted out to the sailors, "Come here! see them horses running away and the plow all going to heaven!" The fact was, when he saw the rakes on the reaper, he thought it was the plow flying in the air.

The Seattle Dispatch says: "The cheapest and best route from San Francisco to Portland is now by the way of the Sound. The fare from San Francisco to Seattle is $12½; from Seattle to Portland, $7½, a total of $20. By the direct route from San Francisco to Portland the fare is $30; making a difference in favor of the Sound route of $10. Such a large difference cannot fail to attract to this route a large share of the passengers between San Francisco and Portland, for besides the money saved, passengers will have an opportunity to make a short visit to the Sound and Victoria. The difference in the freight rates is still more marked."

A gentleman just down from Beaver reports to the Salt Lake Tribune a feeling of great uneasiness in the minds of the Gentiles in that city over the menacing approach of Indians upon that place. To guard against attack they have petitioned for the addition of a troop of cavalry to the military force stationed at Fort Cameron. A force of Navajoes have crossed the Colorado at Lee's ferry, and are now camped near Kanab, and a number of this same tribe of Indians have been loafing about Beaver for some time past, being quartered in the tithing-yard. The failure to convict Lee is regarded as a great triumph by the most ignorant saints, and frequent threats are made of blood-atoning the three jurymen who voted for his conviction. It will be well for Governor Emery to keep a vigilant eye upon the doings of the Mormon leaders in Utah Territory, for it is evident mischief is brewing.

James S. Giles, postmaster at Prescott, Arizona, whose reckless conduct, says the Miner, during the past three or four months, has been the subject of general remark, wound up his official career on Saturday night, August 14th, by decamping with whatever funds it has been possible for him to collect from the sale of money orders and otherwise. How much he has taken it is impossible thus far to state. An examination of his books shows that he has sent away no money order advices since the 17th of July, and that 105 applications have been made since that time, aggregating $3,058 86, besides there is a hiatus of one week when the applications cannot be found; but this is probably but a small part of his peculations. Ex-Postmaster Allen, at the solicitation of the bondsmen, has examined the books, and finds no registry of any foreign money orders, except three, during his entire term, extending from November last until the present. So that it is probable he has sunk several thousand dollars in this way. A large number of money orders sold elsewhere and sent here for collection have not been paid, the holders being informed by Giles that he had received no advices to pay them.

Lone is his life who, on the sea-tower blind,
Watcheth all weathers o'er the beacon light.
Ah! woe to him if, mad with his own mind,
He groweth sick for scenes more sweet and bright:
For round him, in the dreadful winter night,
The snow drifts, and the waves beat, and the wind
Shrieks desolately, while with feeble sight
He readeth some old Scripture left behind
By those who sat before him in that place,
And in their season perished, one and all.
Wild raves the wind: the faces on the wall
Seem phantoms; features dark and dim to trace.
He starteth up—he tottereth—he would fall,
When, lo! the gleam of one Diviner Face!

The Saluda Mill, of Columbia, S. C. has just turned out its first bale of cotton cloth manufactured since the war.

SHORT PARAGRAPHS.

A man who cheats in a short measure is a measureless rogue; if in whisky, then he is a rogue in a spirit. If by falsifying his accounts, then he is an unaccountable rogue. If he gives a bad title to land, then he is a rogue indeed. If he gives a short measure in wheat, then he is a rogue in grain.

Somebody ridiculing fairs in Vermont says that he knows of one that consisted of a calf, a goose, a pumpkin and a horse. It rained so hard the first night that the goose swam off, the calf broke loose and ate the pumpkin, and a thief prowling around mounted the horse and drove the calf off before him. In leaving, a chase ensued between the thief and the calf, and this was reported as a great agricultural horse trot. And so ended the fair.

Some geographical discoveries of considerable importance not only in a scientific, but also (for the Ottoman Treasury) in a financial point of view, have been recently made in Syria in the shape of a host of villages whose very existence was unknown, or had been forgotten. No fewer than seventy-nine of these hapless hamlets have been unearthed in the single district of Damascus, besides about an equal number in other parts of the province.

Governor Arny has recently visited Philadelphia and made arrangements for two hundred square feet of land in Fairmount Park for the exhibition of products and minerals of New Mexico and the Pueblo and Navajo tribes. He proposes to erect an adobe building after the style of the Pueblos and ancient Aztecs, for the display of the products and handiwork of the Pueblos and Navajoes, and take on a delegation with him to illustrate their skill in making fabrics.

The Exchange Gazette of Berlin says that a "German Abyssinian Company" has been formed in that city with the object of establishing a permanent colony in the province of Shoa, in the southern portion of Abyssinia, in order to make scientific researches in unexplored parts of Africa. The ruler of the country, Menelek, approves of the undertaking, and the native population is friendly to it. King Menelek is said to be anxious to introduce the advantages of civilization into the country.

GENERAL NOTES.

Anthracite coal, in large quantities, has been discovered in the Shenandoah mountains of Virginia, a distance of nineteen miles from Harrisburg.

Two purchases of cotton goods for China just made in New York are worthy of mention, one a lot of blue denims, amounting to over $400,000, the other 12,000 cases of Lowell mills cotton, valued at $200,000.

The work of boring for coal at Jacksonville, Ill., has been abandoned. After an expenditure of not less than $30,000 in trying to find a vein of sufficient thickness, the proprietors of the enterprise have concluded to depend on other places for their coal.

It is said that A. T. Stewart & Co., contemplate erecting one hundred houses at Groveville, up the Hudson river, on the property lately acquired at that place, and which Mr. Stewart recently examined in company with Judges Hilton and Davies. Six hundred men are expected within a short time to break ground.

The official returns made to the Bureau of Statistics show that during last month there arrived at New York 9,962 immigrants, of whom 5,152 were males and 4,110 females, against 15,634, of whom 8,648 were males and 6,986 females, for the corresponding month last year. This shows a falling off 6,372 immigrants.

The Lowell, Mass., machine shop now employs seven hundred hands, and expects to run on full time during the winter, having orders for full machinery for an 8,000 spindle mill at Rome, Ga., a 6,000 one at Greenville, S. C., and one for 4,000 in Western Mississippi. The South is evidently preparing for home manufactures.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 3, 1875.

THE NEWSPAPERS AND THE BANK OF CALIFORNIA.

It is but natural that the sorrow which has been occasioned by the death of Wm. C. Ralston, the late President of the Bank of California, and the disappointment of those who lost their hard-earned means by the failure of that institution should be coupled with somewhat of bitterness toward every person who contributed, however innocently, to bring about, or to hasten, the catastrophe. For this reason, it is not surprising that many persons, especially those immediately interested through personal or business relations with Mr. Ralston and the bank, are inclined to blame the Bulletin and Call for pursuing, for a few weeks previous to the announcement of the failure of the bank, a course which may have had some influence to precipitate that event. But for intelligent and thoughtful persons, whose personal interest in the subject is not such as to becloud their judgment, to entertain such feelings, and to encourage such feelings in others, appears scarcely credible. And yet it is true that several of the journals of San Francisco are doing all in their power, from day to day, to create a sentiment of hostility to those papers, for no other cause than their fearless exposure of the reckless management of the bank, and to this end are sparing no pains and leaving no resources of ingenuity untaxed to place those papers in a false position before the community and to stir up and influence the passions of those who, from personal grief or disappointment, are in a condition to be thus influenced.

What the papers thus accused did, and all they did, to produce the deplorable events of a failure of the leading bank on the Pacific coast and the suicide of the most prominent financial operator in the Golden State, was to warn the public of the illegitimate and reckless speculations in which the manager of the institution was engaged, and of the certainty that a crisis which would swamp the bank and involve depositors in the loss of their deposits, was only a question of time. The warning was heeded by some depositors, and they owe a debt of gratitude to those who sounded the alarm in time. Others were deaf to all representations of the actual condition of affairs, and they have now abundant occasion to repent their folly. The course of the Bulletin and Call was the right course, and the better judgment of the community will yet so declare. It may have hastened the fatal day, but it did not cause the calamity. A few more days, and a few more victims at most, and the explosion must have come. The astonishing disproportion between the liabilities and the assets of the concern tells the whole story and vindicates, to the fullest measure, the wisdom and justice of the course pursued by the papers that warned the public. A well-managed bank may have a run on it, from panic, which will make suspension inevitable; but it will always—unless in case of some great and unexpected calamity—be able to show assets sufficient in the end to cover its liabilities. It can not keep its moneys lying idle in its vaults, but it can and will see that when they go out good and sufficient securities will take their place. So that ultimately the depositor will get his own. A bank not thus managed is an institution against which the public ought to be warned; and the public journal which, without malice to gratify or personal objects to accomplish, and being first fully advised in the premises, gives the world notice of danger in that, as well as in any other, matter, entitles itself not to condemnation but to confidence.

A LESSON FOR OREGON PEOPLE.

There is a lesson in the failure of the Bank of California, by which Oregon people should profit. Some persons in this State, having a surplus of means, instead of investing here in enterprises that would build up our own community, have preferred to invest in Bank of California stock, and even to deposit in that institution, and, we are informed, are heavy losers by its collapse. We are truly sorry for the misfortunes of such persons, and we hope they may get their money back, though the chances appear to be against it. But the lesson of this event is that Oregon men would better invest their money at home in the way of safe and reasonably profitable enterprises that await the appearance of capital; or, if they prefer to let their funds be deposited in bank, that they deposit in our home banks, which are engaged in no stock gambling operations and speculations, but are satisfied to do a legitimate banking business. Such banks are always safe, while the banks that are such only in name, being in fact mainly engaged in stock speculations, are sure sooner or later to go to wreck. Business in Oregon is not so fast, makes not so great a show, as in California, but it is certainly as much safer as it is slower.

HIGH LANDS FOR FARMS.

Those who have confined their observation of Oregon lands to the level prairies and other low lands, can form no adequate idea of the extent of good land in the State. The highlands of Eastern Oregon are now understood by stock men in that section to be the best of grazing lands, the grasses being more plentiful and superior in nutrient qualities. But it is only just beginning to be recognized that some of the high table lands, or even mountain lands in Western Oregon, are of the very finest quality for all the purposes of varied agriculture. The Chehalem mountains, for example, when cleared up and well cultivated, produce as heavy crops of grain and as fine gardens as the best prairie lands. The same is true of the high plateaux along the bases of the Cascade and Coast ranges of mountains. In the course of a week of rest in the Eagle creek country, we lately had an opportunity to witness the harvesting of grain in the high country in the spurs of the Cascade mountains, and were surprised at the yield. Both for quantity and quality, the wheat grown on lands a thousand feet above the valley was fully equal, acre for acre, to that raised in the valley. The particular locality we visited is the Palmateer neighborhood. The farms there are in an excellent state of cultivation, well fenced, and in all their appointments marked by evidences of intelligent management. Forty bushels of wheat to the acre is not an uncommon yield, and we were informed by Mr. Garrett Palmateer, the patriarch of the neighborhood, that thirty-three bushels to the acre is regarded as no more than an average yield under fair cultivation. And this is all, or nearly all, fern land, which many regard as unfit for the production of small grain. We brought home some samples of wheat and oats, in the straw, grown on Mr. Seth Palmateer's farm, which would astonish any one who has not seen the best specimens of these products which Oregon can show. And as to fruit, we have seen no such healthy and thrifty-growing orchards anywhere else, and none this year so burdened with fruit. The vegetable gardens also are a luxury to behold. The soil is a rich brown loam, mellow, moist and never baked by the sun, and produces in abundance everything that can be grown in Western Oregon, without the aid of irrigation.

THE CALIFORNIA ELECTION.

The election in California has resulted in the success of the Democratic ticket. So far as the returns have come in, they indicate the election of Irwin for Governor, and the Democratic candidates for congress in all but the second district. In that district Page, Republican, is probably elected. It was at first thought Houghton, Republican, was elected in the fourth district, but the further returns make it altogether probable that Wigginton is successful by a handsome majority.

The Independents have lost very heavily. The causes that have conspired to produce this result are not easily perceived yet. Perhaps the circumstances connected with the failure of the Bank of California had much to do with the matter. The journals which were most violently attacked as having helped to produce that calamity, were the leading advocates of the Independent ticket, and the election coming so soon after that event, the passions and sympathies of the people were worked upon to the utmost to affect the election. At all events the Democrats are ahead and the Independents came out third in the race.

Last week there was a scene on the farm of Mr. John Palmateer, in Clackamas county, which, we venture, has not been matched in the State. A large separator was in use threshing wheat, about which were Mr. Garrett Palmateer, six stalwart sons and seven grandsons, all at work, each making a band, and, to make the scene complete, the grandmother was holding sacks into which the grain was transferred from the half-bushel; the two grandparents, six sons and seven grandsons—fifteen. We wait for somebody to beat that.

FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 3, 1875.

CITY NEWS.

CARS DITCHED.—Fourteen freight cars, loaded with wheat, were ditched yesterday morning while the west side train was on the way to this city, at a point just beyond bridge No. 4. The locomotive and two cars passed the switch all right, but the weight of the train was so great that it caused the track to spread, turning one rail over on its side and threw the cars off. One car was wrecked, but the others, which were ditched, escaped with but slight damages. Fortunately the train was moving slowly at the time, and no one was hurt. Immediately after the disaster, the locomotive came down to the city, and procuring a gang of men returned to the scene of the accident. The broken rail was replaced, and soon the track was cleared. Most of the ditched cars were placed on the track and brought down to the city. In consequence of the unavoidable delay, the afternoon train did not go out to St. Joe. To-day the train will run as usual.

FOUNDRY TO BE MOVED.—Mr. Zimmerman & Frazer, of this city, we are informed, will remove their foundry soon to Ashland, Jackson county, where they propose to place it in successful operation. It will be the first foundry ever in operation in that county, and consequently the proprietors ought to do a thriving business. In addition to their brass foundry, these gentlemen propose to set up a shop where all kinds of small iron castings can be made. Owing to the fact that there is no foundry in Jackson county, a large quantity of old scrap iron—broken castings, etc.—has accumulated, and it is expected that there is sufficient metal of the character mentioned to supply the shop for a long time—probably for a year or longer. Mr. J. M. Sutton will superintend the moving of the foundry. Messrs. Zimmerman & Frazer are both energetic young men, and we wish them success in their new enterprise.

PASSENGERS.—The steamship Oriflamme, which sailed for San Francisco last evening, carries away the following passengers: Mrs. H. Hyde and infant, Mrs. Isaacs and two children, H. Moskovitz, L. Bloom, J. F. Warriner, Mrs. J. J. Downing and daughter, E. J. Finck, J. Kohn, P. Farrell, Capt. Babbitt, U. S. A., wife and child; D. M. French, E. Woods, Fred. Tichenor, J. G. Lershon, W. R. Sheaff, E. W. Realing, Mrs. E. Heron, Miss Forbes, Mrs. John A. Sheridan and infant, John N. Denison, G. W. Kenady, John Loughlin, John W. Ackerson and wife, W. H. Radcliffe and wife, B. Parker, Jr., N. Strickland, Hugh Small, Mrs. St. Clair, Mrs. W. Saal and daughter, George Smuller and daughter, George Jordan, wife and son; Miss Elva Bryman, Miss Ada Bryman, Miss Anna Hinsley, Mrs. I. Brooks and two children, E. L. Powell, Frank Brooks, A. L. Crossman, Geo. P. Terrell, A. N. Gilbert, W. F. & Co's messenger and 30 in steerage.

INSANE.—A man named George Mansfield was arrested on Wednesday morning who was conducting himself in a turbulent manner, and taken to the city jail. He continued to act strangely and give unmistakable evidences of insanity, and it was concluded prudent to have him subjected to the usual tests. Yesterday afternoon he was examined before Judge Woodward and adjudged insane. Commitment papers were made out and Mansfield sent to the asylum late in the afternoon. The unfortunate man was aged about 40 years and unmarried. He has been stopping in the city some time. He was confined for several months in the asylum at Steilacoom, Washington Territory, last spring. Excessive indulgence in strong drink is said to be the cause of his mental derangement.

A REAL BONANZA.—Mr. Alonzo Leland, a former resident of Portland and well known all over the state, writes a private letter to a friend in this city relative to some rich quartz mines located in the northern portion of Idaho Territory, in which he is interested, in developing. The writer says: "We are taking out some very rich ore. Some of it will pay from $25 to $50 per pound, by crushing in a hand mortar. The letter of the superintendent to me, of date 14th inst., says: 'We are in 25 feet, with the east drift, and have a crevice between walls, four feet wide, and some good rock in it. To-day a vein of blue quartz came in from the foot wall, which is very rich. We have very good prospects, and are going to take out more money than Isenback & Gamble ever did.'"

TALL CUTTING AND THRESHING.—Mr. J. Skaife writes a note from Fairfield, Marion county, in which he says: "In looking over the columns of your paper I see that Mr. Kramer, of Monmouth, claims to have done the champion cutting and threshing of the season. He cut and threshed 2,262 bushels in five days, with a ten-foot sickle. But we can just discount that. In five days we cut and threshed 3,682 bushels fall wheat with a ten-foot sickle. Tell Mr. Kramer he must try again. The fall grain on Fairfield prairie averages about 33 bushels per acre. E. A. Breyman, of Fairfield, is building a warehouse for sacked grain, which is almost completed. It is 30x100 feet. Wheat is worth $1 per bushel."

SUDDENLY DIED.—Intelligence has reached the city of the sudden death of a man named Sprague, on Tuesday of the present week, at Damascus, Clackamas county. Sprague came from Iowa some time since, and purchased a farm near Damascus. On Monday evening he was taken suddenly ill, and continued to grow worse continually until Tuesday, when he died. Soon after being taken ill, a physician was summoned, who, upon making an examination of the case, pronounced the disease cholera. Mr. Sprague suffered great physical agony until relieved by death. He leaves a wife and several children to mourn his sudden and untimely departure from the walks of life.

MILITIA ENCAMPMENT.—Some time ago it was announced that the Washington Guard of this city would visit the State Fair and encamp on the grounds for several days. It is not unlikely that the City Rifles will join them in this semi-military mode of at once seeing all there is of the fair and enjoying a holiday, a committee from this company having been appointed to take steps with the view of co-operating with the senior militia corps in the encampment.

HELD TO ANSWER.—Yesterday the case of United States vs Wm. Thompson came before Commissioner Wilcox for examination. Defendant is charged with introducing spirituous liquor into an Indian country, having been brought down from Sitka on the California. An examination was had and defendant held to answer the charge in the sum of $500. In default, Thompson was committed.

NUMBER OF ARRESTS.—Sixty-four arrests were made during the past month, classified as follows: Drunk and disorderly, 35; fast driving, 4; abusive language, 2; giving liquor to prisoners, 1; violation of ordinance 1,167, 1; vagrancy, 3; fighting, 5; peddling without license, 3; larceny, 2; violation of ordinance 928, 1; contempt of court by refusing to answer a summons to serve as a juror, 2.

HOPES OF RECOVERY.—The young man, Harry Spedden, who shot himself in the region of the heart last week at Astoria, will probably recover. The doctors in attendance had not pronounced him out of danger up till Wednesday night, but announced that if Thursday was passed without any worse symptoms intervening, the crisis might be considered as over.

REPRESENTATIVE.—We made mention yesterday of the fact that Jos. Buchtel had tendered his resignation as Representative to the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., which will convene at Indianapolis on the 20th inst. Mr. A. G. Walling, of this city, we understand, will probably be appointed in Mr. Buchtel's place.

"THE RACE FOR RICHES, AND THE END."—By request, Dr. Lindsley will deliver a lecture, suggested by late financial disasters culminating in the death of Mr. Ralston, on Sunday evening next.

Prof. McGibeny and family will hold another song service, at Good Templar Hall, on Sunday evening, in connection with the members of the Y. M. C. A.

The Good Templars' sociable, held by Portland Lodge, Monday evening, was a pleasant occasion, and there was no lack of sociability and cordiality observable.

Pursuant to authority from the war department, the depot quartermaster at Vancouver will issue—and drop from the returns—100 blankets to the Stickine tribe of Indians, at Fort Wrangel, Alaska, in payment for the death of their sub-chief Fernandesic. The blankets will be shipped to Captain Stephen P Jocelyn, 21st infantry, at Fort Wrangel, by the first steamer.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Binger Herman, of Douglas county, is paying this city a brief visit. He is in a good state of preservation, and in excellent spirits.

Prof. E. J. Finck, a young musician of this city, took his departure yesterday for the East. He proposes to complete his musical education in Boston. Ere he returns Mr. Finck will probably visit Germany and study under some of the great masters.

By the outgoing steamer, Mr. Hugh Small, who is so well and favorably known throughout Oregon, Washington Territory and British Columbia, took his departure for San Francisco, where he expects to permanently reside. Mr. Small, for the past three years, has been the traveling correspondent of the OREGONIAN, and his ready and graphic pen has been the means of bringing before thousands of readers abroad, the wealth, resources and prospective greatness of the Northwest coast. His interesting letters, published in this journal, have been very widely perused and have met with the most favorable comments from the press. They have doubtless been instrumental in inducing immigrants to come here, and have thus been of great material advantage to the state. Mr. Small is a true gentleman, of sterling qualities of mind and heart, and in every respect worthy of the confidence and esteem of his fellow men. It is with sincere regret that we chronicle his departure from the state. Shortly after the death of Mr. A. C. Bonnell, who was connected for so many years with the business department of the San Francisco Bulletin, Mr. Small received a dispatch from the proprietors of that journal, tendering him the position rendered vacant by the death of Mr. Bonnell, and requiring him to report at that office at the earliest date. It is in response to the summons that he bids a friendly adieu to Oregon. To his new and future field of labor Mr. Small bears the best wishes and kindest regards of a host of friends.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

M. Dugan, drunk, fined $5; paid.

Hugh Floyd, drunk, fined $5; did not pay.

Mrs. Williams, charged with being drunk; charge not sustained and defendant discharged.

D. Williams, arrested for drunkenness; fined $5, failed to liquidate and committed for three days.

Tom Kiernan, for drunkenness, was fined $10. Failing to liquidate, Thomas went below for five days.

Jas. Turk was arrested on the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. The charge was not sustained and defendant discharged. Immediately after Turk was arrested on a charge of assault and battery. The complainant made the last case "stick," and James was fined $25, which he paid in preference to going to jail.

AMUSEMENTS.

This evening Prof. Rice, the wonderful mind-reader, will make his first appearance at New Market Theater, and give some of his extraordinary mental tests. At the close of Prof. Rice's performances, Prof. T. Morris, the champion skater of the Pacific coast, will appear and entertain the audience with a series of fancy and comic skating. The entertainment will be given under the special patronage of Lieut. Gen. Sheridan, the hero of Winchester; Gen. Howard, Col. Sheridan, His Honor Mayor Chapman, and their respective families, all of whom will be present. A crowded house may be anticipated. Matinee to-morrow afternoon.

SEVERELY INJURED.—On Friday afternoon 27th ult., Miss Nettie Lake, who resides on Eagle creek, Clackamas county, had the misfortune to meet with a severe accident. She was thrown from a runaway horse, resulting in a fracture of the forearm, besides receiving bruises about the face and shoulders. A physician was summoned who rendered the necessary medical service. Miss Lake, at last accounts, was doing well and will soon be able to be out.

Neilson; on relief committee, Messrs. E. Jurgensen, A. Wilson and F. Hornstrom.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The Excelsior Gaiter is advertised by Pease & Co., who have the agency for this elegant shoe. Observe the attractive cut among the new ads.

The Mind Reader is causing much talk. He gives a performance that is so entirely new and novel that all will be surprised and delighted.

STATE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Afternoon Session.

SALEM, Sept. 1, 1875.

At half-past 1 P. M. the Teachers' Institute was opened by music on the piano.

The president then appointed on the committee of introduction Miss M. A. Hodgden, Professor J. T. Gregg, Mrs B. W. Cooke.

On the committee of question-box, H. G. Morris, D. V. S. Reid and Miss Dora Hinshaw.

As critics, Miss M. A. Hodgden and Rev. J. Emery.

The "Welcoming Address," by Rev. L. J. Powell, and "Response," by Professor F. H. Grubbs, of Eugene City, being postponed until the evening, a motion was made that a programme of the evening session be struck off. Carried.

A motion was made that the secretary be directed to invite the governor, secretary of state, treasurer of state, and as many of the supreme judges as are in the city, to attend the Institute whenever they may find it convenient to do so. Motion prevailed.

"Percentage and Interest," by Professor E. A. Milner, of Corvallis, came next in order. Prof. Milner being absent, his place was filled by Mr. J. Stevenson, of Forest Grove. Mr. Stevenson's remarks were both interesting and instructive, especially considering that he had very limited time to prepare himself his effort was indeed creditable. The blackboard, which had somewhat deferred its arrival, having put in an appearance, Mr. Stevenson aptly illustrated his subject.

After the close of Mr. Stevenson's discourse, the subject was opened for discussion when Mr. Smith, of Silverton, propounded the query: "Does the Connecticut rule allow compound interest?" President Gault arose for explanation on the Connecticut rule, and requested Mr. Smith to talk "other and farther" on the subject. Catching the words "Connecticut rule," Mr. Smith was promptly on his feet to reply, and after a few remarks placed on the board an example illustrating his position.

Judge P. P. Prim, of the supreme court, was here introduced to the Institute.

Next came music on the piano.

"Analysis of sentences and phrases," by Prof. H. H. Hewitt, of Lafayette, being called, Prof. Hewitt was reported absent, and Prof. Morris filled his position. The position this gentleman took opened a long and animated discussion in which Professors Gregg, Meachem, Powell, King and Johnson, President Gault, Rev. Mr. Emery, Mr. Simpson, Mr. Bishop, of Brownsville, Mr. Reed, of Albany, and Mesdames Carter and Cooke took part with great spirit, the principal questions at issue seeming to be the age at which children should commence the study of grammar and the use of diagrams. Mr. Bishop was emphatic on the subject of not beginning to teach children the science of grammar until they had reached the somewhat mature age of sixteen. But this gentleman was sadly in the minority.

The following resolution was introduced by Rev. Mr. Babcock and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That our fellow laborers, Prof. T. H. Crawford and his wife, be assured of our sympathy in their bereavement, and we trust they draw consolation from the words of the great Healer.

Miss Ella Scott, of Forest Grove, next came forward and read an essay entitled "Castle Land." Miss Ella handled her subject ably, clothing it with glowing thoughts and beautiful ideas.

After the Report of the Critics, a very just and able exposition of several errors in rhetoric and pronunciation by the speakers of the afternoon, the institute took a recess until 7½ in the evening.

Evening Session.

Arriving at the hall in good season, we find the comfortable desks taken away and chairs placed in their stead, so that a larger number of persons may be accommodated. The first thing on the programme for this evening is music by the Salem brass band. The band is somewhat behind time, and we get rather tired waiting, but when it does come, and the music begins, we feel amply repaid for our waiting. The hall is crowded by this time, and when the "harmony of sweet sounds" subside, we are all anxious for the "Welcoming Address," by Rev. L. J. Powell.

Prompt to the president's announcement, that gentleman rises and welcoms the teachers to the city of Salem. Mr. Powell's address can hardly be too highly spoken of. His earnest words left on every heart a warm impression, and one of the happiest memories of the institute will be our "Welcome to the good people of Salem." Then came the response, by Prof. L. Bilyer, of Linn county. This response was to have been delivered by Prof. F. H. Grubbs, of Eugene, but we suppose that that gentleman was not present. Considering Mr. Bilyer's limited time for preparation, this was a fair effort.

After more instrumental music, President Gault introduced Rev. Mr. Bailey, of McMinnville, as lecturer on "The Teacher." Mr. Bailey's lecture showed deep research, noble thoughts and interesting and original arguments.

At the close of the reverend gentleman's discourse came music, then a lecture on the noun by Rev. T. F. Campbell, of Monmouth, who in a discourse of half an hour's length, gave his views on that subject in a clear and instructive manner.

The evening session closed with a vocal solo by Miss Barker, rendered in her charming style. It was a fit close for a day so full of interest as the first day of the Teachers' Institute for 1875 has been.

Thursday—Morning Session.

Your reporter entered the hall just in time to hear the conclusion of music.

Miss M. A. Hodgden, of Portland, introduced the subject of "Fractions." Limited time forbids even a synopsis of this lady's interesting remarks.

Mr. Smith, of Silverton, took up the subject by inquiring how young children were to comprehend her method of analyzing? [Hon. L. F. Grover was here presented to the Institute.] Rev. Emery rose to state his views on inversion of fractions. Miss Hodgden answered Mr. Smith's inquiry with brevity and clearness.

Prof. Crooks wished to explain a new method of writing decimal fractions. Mr. Simpson did not understand the method; Prof. Johnson did not understand. Prof. Crooks explained, but Messrs. Bishop and Simpson did not understand. Mr. Simpson thinks there is a misunderstanding; thinks Prof. Crooks doesn't say what he means; wants to know what he does mean; is requested to step to the board and give his views. Motion made that the discussion be indefinitely postponed. Motion fails. Prof. Crooks thinks Mr. Simpson makes a mistake. After some further discussion, and arriving at no definite conclusion, President Gault closed the discussion and announces music, after which Prof. M. G. Royal opens the discussion in methods of examination, and in a few remarks gives his preference to both oral and written.

Rev. G. H. Atkinson was invited to speak, and it is needless to compliment his remarks. Rev. T. F. Campbell, Prof. A. J. Anderson, Mrs. Belle Cooke and others gave arguments pro and con on the subject. This was by far the pleasantest discussion yet held. After music, Miss Dora Henshaw, of Washington county, read a poem, "Oregon Sunrise," written by Mrs. Irene Calbreath, of West Chehalem. The poem was excellent, and with this closed the morning session.

There is one or two features of the entertainment this evening that will be a surprise to all—not to be advertised.

No extra charge for reserved seats. Box sheet open this morning at 10 o'clock by G. L. DeFrans, in McCormick's book store.

The champion skater will be to many an attractive feature. Mr. Morris has no equal on the coast.

Before Phil. Sheridan departs for the East he will look in at Fabre & Barnes'.

One of the most attractive establishments in the city is that of JOS. KOHN'S, in the handsome building recently constructed at the corner of First and Morrison street. Mr. KOHN has an unusually large and varied stock of Clothing, Furnishing Goods, Trunks, Valises, &c. He made it a point to select goods, on a late trip, specially adapted to the local trade, and his customers will find everything in the new store of the very best quality, latest styles, and the prices regulated to suit.

BECK & WALDMAN have added largely to their stock of Clothing during the past week. Mr. Beck has selected many new and attractive styles and forwarded the first purchases, which are really the best to be seen in Portland. The variety of styles for youths are numerous, and no parent should fail to examine the arrivals. Take your boy and have him fitted. The firm have an immense stock for the fall and winter and offer special inducements to all.

The AMERICAN EXCHANGE HOTEL is still run by Quimby, who has been here for the past ten years and intends to continue. He has no connection whatever with the St Charles Hotel. His old patrons may be sure of always meeting him at the American Exchange as of old. jy7tf

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

RELIGIOUS, LOCAL, PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

[From the Advocate.]

The campmeeting at Goldendale, W. T., will commence on the 10th of September. Rev. J. W. Kuykendall, preacher in charge, and Rev. H. Caldwell, presiding elder.

The first quarterly meeting for the East Portland charge for this conference year will be held on Saturday and Sabbath next. The presiding elder, Rev. P. M. Starr, will preach at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

The parsonage committee of Taylor street M. E. church, composed of Mesdames Bingham, Northrup and Jones, have concluded to refit and furnish the guest chamber of the parsonage, and in order to provide the means they propose to give a Sociable on Friday evening of next week.

We learn that W. T. Chapman, now at Drew Theological Seminary, is succeeding finely in supplying the church at Maplewood, N. J. Rev. S. O. Royal is preaching during the summer vacation at New Vernon, N. J. Rev. W. H. Wythe has returned to California on account of his health.

Revs. J. N. Denison and G. W. Kenady, both promising young members of the Oregon Annual Conference, will leave on the outgoing steamer, on their way to Madison, N. J. It is their intention to take a thorough course of study at Drew Theological Seminary, so ably presided over by Dr. J. F. Hurst.

[From the Sentinel.]

Rev. G. B. Van Linn has been appointed pastor of St. Mary's church and mission at Corvallis. Rev. P. F. Gibney will take charge of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Oregon City. Rev. P. Macken will take charge of the church and mission at Astoria.

By the steamer on Tuesday night arrived Rev. William A. Verboort, recently pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Depere, Brown county, Wisconsin. Father Verboort was accompanied by a number of Colonists from Wisconsin, who intend to locate in Oregon.

We are glad to chronicle the fact that the contract for the erection of the Catholic church in East Portland was let by the Very Rev. J. F. Fierens, V. G., on Tuesday last, to Messrs. Rhodes and Baugher, of East Portland. The church will be located on the block north of the bridge on Twelfth street, and in size will be 30 by 50 feet. The hight will be 18 feet from sill to the top of plate, with an arched ceiling, and an appropriate steeple, over 40 feet high. The work will be commenced immediately, and we expect the church will be ready for dedication early in December next.

There is so much that is new in the entertainment to be given in honor of Lieutenant-General Sheridan at New Market Theater, that it cannot fail of being unusually attractive.

SAN FRANCISCO BOOT & SHOE STORE. Moore & Hollabaugh, successors to J. Fleischner, 123 First street, respectfully say to the public generally, that they have marked down the old stock from 25 to 50 per cent., and intend to sell regardless of cost. They have this day received a large stock of New Goods, latest styles, which they will sell as cheap as the cheapest, endeavoring to suit all who may favor them with their patronage. Custom work done in the latest styles and on new and scientific principles. Repairing done to order. All work warranted. Give them a call before purchasing elsewhere.

COLD LUNCHES.—The oyster season having closed, WALLER & SON, Oak street, between First and Second, will serve [illegible] lunches to their patrons at all hours. The OXFORD SALAD DRESSING, their own preparation, is meeting with great favor. Try it.

HONESTY is the best policy in medicine as well as in other things. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a genuine preparation of that unequalled spring medicine and blood purifier, decidedly superior to the poor imitations heretofore in the market. Trial proves it.

IMPORTANT.—Indorsed by the Medical profession. DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Chest. DR. TOWNSLEY'S TOOTHACHE ANODYNE cures in one MINUTE.

Harmony Encampment No. 4, C. of R. C.—Meets Tuesday Evenings at Good Templars' Hall, corner Third and Alder streets, at 7½ o'clock.

Teeth like orient pearls set in cushions of rose;
A breath like the perfume the toilet bestows;
These are charms to win hearts, when all other charms fade,
But they can't be preserved without SOZODONT'S aid.

For Coughs, Colds and Throat-Disorders use "Brown's Bronchial Troches," having proved their efficacy by a test of many years.

IT WAS A BEE.

Any one passing along Howard street, just before noon, yesterday, would have seen him lying under one of the shade trees in his yard, a pillow under his head his feet on a bench, and a magazine in his hands He looked the picture of contentment, and the women who were going along with pull-back dresses on sighed and wished they were men

The great city hall bell struck the hour of noon The deep toned echoes floated out on the still summer air and touched a tender chord in the Howard street man's heart The echoes sounded to him like funeral whispers—like the whispers of the night wind sighing through the grand old wilderness

"Oh, solemn bell!" he said. "Oh! sad solemn "

That was all he said about the bell A bumble bee settled down on him to look for sugar, and as he turned partly over he gave the bee a rub It is a bad thing to rub any kind of a bee He feels insulted and gets annoyed at things which a mad turtle or a dove would pass by without a thought The echoes of the bell were just dying away when the Howard street man got up He got up like a man in a hurry He went away from there He didn't meander—he went like a rocket Something seemed to ail him. He made a line for the house, went up the steps at a bound, and, as his wife asked him the cause of his haste, he replied

"Thunder—oop! hoop!"

"Is this house on fire?" she asked, as he tore around the parlor and upset things

"House be—oop! Lordy!" he answered, as he made a circuit of the room and dashed into the house

The dog rushed after him, the wife rushed after the dog, and the man bounded out of the house

"Are you crazy, Robert?" shrieked the wife, as she beheld him pounding his legs with his silk hat.

Two or three boys ran in from the street a strange dog came in and got up a fight and all things conspired to make a lively time

"He's got the colic!" yelled one of the boys

"Or the tremens!" shouted another

"See that hat!" called a third

"Boys, go out of here!" whispered the panting man as he stopped using his hat They went out, and as he limped into the house, his tearful wife asked.

"Now, then, will you tell me what has happened?"

"No, I won't!" he shouted, and he didn't She fell into hysterics at the thought that he had used his brain too much, and had suddenly become crazed, and he went down to the drug store and applied arnica to the spot, and informed the clerk that eleven thousand of the largest kind of bumble bees settled right down on him in a body.—Detroit Free Press.

"TRAMP! TRAMP!! TRAMP!!!"

He was travel stained and weary, and his eyes had a far-off wistful look, as though he knew that rest was not for him below, let his tired heart crave it never so much. And as he humbly asked the lady of the house for a morsel of food, his venerable appearance and evident want aroused all her womanly generosity, and she presently set the poor tramp down to the remains of the family dinner

"Poor old man," she murmured sympathetically, as she saw him lean back in his chair, leaving his food untouched on his plate—"he is too weary to eat,"—and she asked him if he felt ill

"Not exackly, mum," was the answer in a humble voice,—"but mos' people cook their roast beef till it's overdone, an' overdone beef don't gen'lly agree with me"

"Y'hav'nt got any Wooster sauce, have ye?"—continued the mendicant—"I mos gen'lly use it when beef ain't cooked to suit me"

Unfortunately the house of McCormick was out of "wooster sauce," but Mrs McC brought the mustard and a plate of nice pickles, observing with the faintest trace of sarcasm in her tones that if she'd known that he was coming she'd have looked out for something better

"Oh, I ain't very pertick'ler mum"—said the old man, as he helped himself to another spoonful of gravy and a cucumber pickle,—"on'y I jus' happ'n'd to mention it, 'cos where there ain't no pie nor nothin' sweet for desert, overdone roast beef's more like a disagree with me," and the meekness in the vagrant's wrinkled face was touching in the extreme, as he looked humbly around the table, as though his former glance might have overlooked the luxuries of which he spoke

But Mrs McC was rather too far gone with speechless indignation to frame a suitable answer, and so the weary old man, with a mournful sigh, went on eating and developed a most singular and wonderful appetite, which was gradually appeased as the four-pound piece of beef was reduced to a mere shapeless fragment and the last boiled potato had vanished from the dish

"I hope you've made a dinner," ejaculated Mrs. McC, in a fine irony

"Wall, yes'm, I've eat wuss wittals," said the old mendicant, with deep humility, as he pushed his chair back from the table, and appeared to seek something on the floor

"What is it you're a looking for?" demanded Mrs. McC, with a snap in her voice that reminded one of the slamming down of the lid of a chest

"Nothin', mum—that is, nothing partick'ler, I didn't see no napkin, and thought I might a dropped it "

But he never finished his speech, and five seconds later his white locks vanished through the doorway with amazing celerity, and an infuriated female with a mop followed so closely behind that he got fully a half-mile from the house before pursuit ceased and he was able to light his cigar

Lost Sheep.—Some of our city divines who have been taking their vacation in the rural districts, where the humming of birds and the bleating of lambs are heard rather than the clanging of street car bells and the noise of the pavements, will appreciate the following bit that comes to us by the last steamer from England A curious incident occurred in a large and well attended church in Clifton on Sunday evening The preacher's subject was the "Lost Sheep" and during the sermon it so happened that a real live "lost sheep" strayed from Durham Down, close by, and got itself entangled in the iron railings that surround the church Thus it was that as the preacher made allusion to the "lost sheep" of the parable, the real live sheep at the church door answered, "Bah!" in a very loud but piteous tone "Which of you," said the preacher, "having an hundred sheep" "Bah! bah!" replied the woolly captive outside The audience, as it must be at once perceived, were placed in a position of considerable embarrassment not to mention the poor preacher, especially when he continued, "For I have found the sheep," and the creature at the door replied still louder, "Bah! bah! bah!" The audience struggled hard and the preacher also They managed not to roar, and he just escaped (by the skin of his teeth) breaking down —Harper's Magazine for September

The stringency in the money market continues to affect the home produce market and there being no immediate prospect of a financial improvement buyers are not anxious to trade even for small quantities. Wheat remains weak at $1 80 and dealers here give these figures because it is desirable to indicate some quotation Under the existing pressure they can hardly be induced to advance money on these rates A Clackamas county granger advises his brethren through an exchange not to get alarmed and sacrifice their wheat, but he makes the mistake of supposing that it is lack of tonnage rather than a scarcity of money that has caused a suspension of transactions. He adds, "My advice to farmers is to put your wheat in good merchantable condition and hold it at home or sack and deliver at the most convenient depot and in less than ninety days you will realize a dollar a bushel In fact I will guarantee on the above conditions, for all that is put in my hands one dollar a bushel" Whether the writer will find his views justified by what takes place during the next fortnight there is little doubt that there will be an improvement in the Liverpool market An improvement there means better rates here The supply England is in the habit of drawing from the continent of Europe is yearly becoming less, and it will be under the average this year The result will be that the English market will have to look for heavier supplies from the United States and as our Eastern yield is not this year an extra one and the harvest there has been injuriously affected by special causes the demand for grain from this coast will be proportionately heavy. Dealing with this question of English wheat deficiencies the New York Bulletin of recent date gives some interesting statistics from which the following facts are gleaned Taking the period from 1856 to 1871 inclusive her annual importations of wheat have ranged between the minimum of 14 877 000 cwts and the maximum of 33 863,000 cwts. Owing to the increase of her manufacturing population as compared with her agricultural this deficiency has been gradually increasing During the five years ending with 1861 the average annual importation of wheat was 28,607 000 cwts during the five years next succeeding, the yearly average was 29 820 000 cwts and during the five years ending with 1874 the average rose to 39 561 000 cwts In 1873 the importation was 43 863 000 cwts and in 1874 41,527 000 cwts The fact in connection with this increasing British importation which most concerns this country is that the whole of this growing increase has to be supplied from the United States, Russia and Germany, formerly leading sources of supply are entirely losing their relative standing In 1860 out of a total importation of 25 484 000 cwts Prussia and the German States contributed 12 181 000 cwts., and the United States 6 407 000 cwts the latter being then an unusually large contribution from this country In 1874 with a total importation of 41 527 000 cwts Russia and Germany sent 8 790 000 cwts and the United States 23 000 000 cwts A tabular statement giving the importations of wheat from the United States to the United Kingdom, since 1865 shows that while during the five years ending with 1869 the average yearly importation was 29 820 000 cwts, the average for the last five years was 39 561 000—an increase of 9 741,000 cwts. or about 33 per cent. Our own contribution to this supply averaged for the five years ending with 1869 5 018 000 cwts and for the succeeding five years ending with last December 15 453 000 cwts.—an increase of 10 435 000 cwts So that while Great Britain has required for the last five years an average of 9 741 000 cwts per year more wheat than she did during the next preceding five years we have sent there to meet these increased requirements 10 435 000 cwts more yearly showing that we have had not only to satisfy the whole increase in the demand but also to compensate for an actual falling off in the aggregate supply from other countries On the average of the last five years we have sent 39 per cent of England's total importation for the previous five years, we contributed only 17 per cent. last year the ratio of imports drawn from this country was 58 per cent.

A dispatch from Washington reports the transfer from the treasury to one of the banks in this city of $50 000.

The wheat crop of Canada has suffered from the severity of the winter but on the whole the quality is said to be good and the total yield although below the average will be much larger than was expected Spring wheat will be above the average to a quite heavy per cent

In its review of the grain trade for the week ending August 8th the Mark Lane Express says

With such a heavy rainfall it is quite unreasonable to expect plenty of the quality of last year so at least, they have found it in France as far as they have gone, many ears being light and the germs abortive so much so indeed that flour has risen 4f in Paris or 3s 6d per sack, and wheat about 2s per qr though some of the new samples are fine But much rye with a better yield has been sprouted Still it seems the floods have not spent their fury for Germany as well as Hungary has suffered partially and America, where all was promise has had such considerable damage done that prices have suddenly advanced 4s 3d per qr in New York. It has been catching weather, too in Belgium and the bulk of our harvest is yet uncut with more uncertainty again in the weather Some of our country markets have hesitated about submitting to any decline though generally it has reached from 1s to 2s per qr It is but fair to note that large speculative purchases have been made in London on American account which may be justified by the buyers knowledge of things in their own country though some think the movement precipitate However that may be the London market closed with an improved aspect and upward tendency which must be swayed entirely by the weather The general averages show a gain of 10s 1d per qr from the lowest point being now 51s. There certainly seems quite as much chance of a rise as of a fall, though there are some who with little experience and much confidence affect to see through the clouds, and are ever ready to take up the popular cry Down again rather than patiently wait and quietly hope for the remuneration of growers and the satisfaction of the people

Another British authority—The Farmer—writing on Aug 10th says that ten per cent deficiency in yield and 1 000 000 quarters for diminished area are reckoned as the probable wheat outturn for England The date was too early however to give a very reliable opinion

Speaking of the Nevada bank the property of Messrs Flood O Brien & Mackie the News Letter says This institution is to be located on the corner of Montgomery and Pine streets in the splendid new Nevada block now drawing to completion This block is the finest and most costly structure on Montgomery street. The gentlemen named are each millionaires having amassed immense fortunes within the past five years in what is called the bonanza mines, Comstock ledge State of Nevada The Nevada Bank is to commence business October 1st prox with a paid up capital of $5 000 000 Louis McLane is to be the president H K Masten cashier The former was formerly the very able business manager in this city of Wells Fargo & Co s banking house the latter recently cashier of the First National Bank For two years past Flood O Brien & Co have been a power in this community They have bought and controlled and still own several of the richest dividend paying gold and silver mines in the State of Nevada and have at this very moment lying, on special deposit subject to call nearly $5 000 000 in gold coin the identical capital to be used at the opening of their new moneyed institution
